Thieu wants to meet with Nixon on VN

SARIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu is asking President Nixon to meet with him to discuss face-to-face the problems of achieving a Vietnam peace settlement, diplomatic sources said today.

Diplomatic and South Vietnamese sources said the proposal would be presented to Nixon later today by Nguyen Phu Duc, sent by Thieu to Washington to meet with the U.S. President.

There was no official comment from the presidential palace or the foreign ministry. But earlier in the day Foreign Minister Tran Van Lam told newsmen who asked if the two presidents might meet:

"This summit meeting between the two leaders at any moment is always necessary in order to coordinate their policies. And I think it is always necessary for them to meet. It depends on the schedule of the two leaders, whether they have the time. But there's nothing planned at this moment."

New GI bill approval is recommended

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Passage of an "Arkansas GI Bill" that would provide free tuition and books for veterans attending state-supported colleges and universities was recommended Tuesday by the Governor's Task Force on Jobs for Veterans.

The force made several other recommendations that will be submitted to Gov. Dale Bumpers.

They include establishment of a merit system for all state employees to assure that a veteran's preference can be given in filling state jobs, amendment of the state laws on veterans benefits to include Vietnam veterans, aid in publicizing and supporting the federally funded program to assist employers who agree to hire veterans and train them on the job, and assistance from the governor in persuading mayors throughout the state to appoint community task forces on jobs for veterans.

Assessor shall go out and personally view and assess property. He hasn't done so for years—the major reason being that he hasn't enough budget even to start the job, much less finish it.

Hence we have the tragic spectacle of millage rates rising while the tax base erodes away due to non-enforcement of the law governing the Tax Assessor's office.

And this goes back to money—the same money that this year's Quorum Court refused to appropriate for Assessor-Elect Easterling.

This do-nothing policy on taxes at the local level is causing the people hardship at the state level. The last General Assembly extended the state's 3 per cent sales tax to services and labor. You pay 3 per cent tax when buying a new automobile, and now you pay 3 per cent tax on every repair bill, including parts and labor.

You pay sales tax when buying a new pair of shoes, and now you pay sales tax on ever shoe-repair job, leather and labor. This hits the little fellow where it hurts.

Am I right when I say it is time the Tax Assessor's office was beefed up so that a start can be made to enforce the law requiring fair and equal property assessing? What do you think?

said Duc would propose the summit meeting be held in December and that it take up the postwar shape of Indochina in addition to discussing a peace settlement.

No site for the proposed meeting was mentioned. Previous U.S.-Vietnamese summit meetings have been held in Honolulu and Manila.

For the past week, both the official Saigon radio and the newspaper Tin Song, which is controlled by the presidential palace, have been indicating that Thieu wants to put his case before Nixon personally.

Thieu has been reported distrustful of the efforts of U.S. presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger, who has been negotiating cease-fire terms with the North Vietnamese in Paris and who conferred with Thieu in Saigon in August and again in October.

Hard line on Vietnam is expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is expected to advise the South Vietnamese today that no further compromises are in store on the tentative ceasefire agreement reached with the North Vietnamese in Paris.

Nixon and his national security adviser, Henry A. Kissinger, were to meet at the White House at 3 p.m. EST with a special representative of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Earlier this week, one official said the meeting with special emissary Nguyen Phu Duc "could very well mean Nixon has decided it is time to tell the score" to the Saigon government.

Meanwhile, diplomatic sources in Saigon said that Duc would relay a request from Thieu for face-to-face talks with Nixon on achieving a Vietnam peace settlement. The request for talks between the two presidents was to be presented later today, the sources said.

Appointment from Nixon is expected

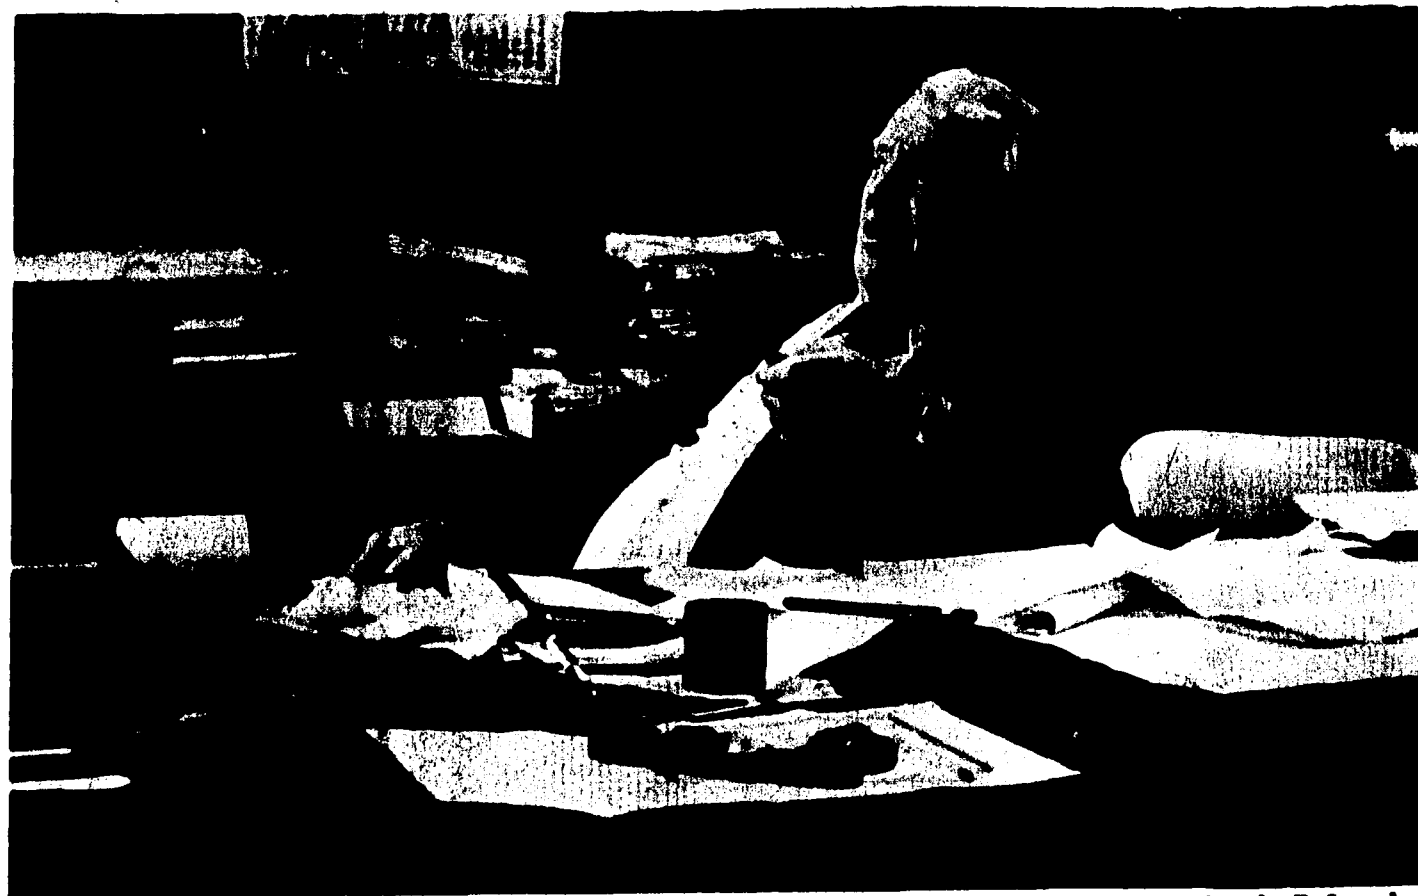

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — President Nixon, promising new second-term Cabinet appointments today, says his aim is to "bring fresh perspective and new vitality to the second four years of his administration."

In the first announcement Tuesday of three Cabinet-level shifts, Nixon unveiled two nominees and one appointee long associated with his tenure.

One possible appointment for today is a new secretary of Housing and Urban Development. George Romney, who directed HUD throughout the first Nixon term, announced Monday he is resigning.

Presidential Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler stood before television cameras Tuesday in a cavernous helicopter hangar at the presidential retreat here to announce in Nixon's behalf the first three personnel changes in a promised major shakeup of the federal bureaucracy.

Reminiscing . . .

James H. Jones announced Tuesday his plans for retirement from the Hope school system. Jones, above, reminisces past experiences during his 42 years with the school system. At left, he makes his rounds at the high school. "I'll miss this place," he said, "but I feel it is time for a younger man to take over."

After 42 years with school system

Jones will retire

By REBECCA LAZENBY

"The toughest decision any man has to make is to leave something that has been his life."

With these words James H. Jones announced his plans for retirement as Superintendent of Hope Public Schools. "The decisions I have made in the past 42 years with the school system fade into insignificance when compared to this," he said.

In announcing his plans Tuesday Jones stated that his retirement will come in June.

Jones, a native of Hope, attended the Hope Public Schools as a child. During his high school days here he was somewhat of a football hero. "I loved to play," he smiled, "and played any position where they needed a man." His prowess on the gridiron earned him an athletic scholarship from Henderson-Brown College, Arkadelphia, then a Methodist College. He played halfback for the Reddies for four years while earning his BS degree at the school. He then attended the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville where he earned an MS degree.

Jones' teaching career began in 1931 in Dierks High School where he doubled as principal and football coach. While at Dierks he married his childhood sweetheart, Ruth Pate, also a Hope native.

Jones and his new bride returned to Hope in 1933. "That was the bottom of the depression," he explained. "and I felt things would be easier for us here at home." He began his career with the Hope schools as a teacher and assistant football coach and was appointed principal at Hope High School in 1936. "Those were the years I really loved. I really enjoyed the close association I had with the students. I had the opportunity to see and communicate with them on a daily basis."

In the fall of 1942 he was appointed Superintendent of Schools.

"At that time I succeeded Miss Beryl Henry. Her influence and success as superintendent helped make my new job easier for me. She helped build a stable educational system here and I've had the opportunity to watch it grow," he said.

"When I started as superintendent our total enrollment was 1,800 students. Now our enrollment has climbed to 2,892."

Jones smiled as he reflected on the past: "In my first year as superintendent our school budget was $75,000. Now our budget is approximately $1.25 (Continued on next page.)

Crash kills 61

MOSCOW (AP) — Three Americans were among 61 persons killed in the crash of a Japanese airliner as it was taking off from Moscow for Japan Tuesday night, Japan Air Lines announced today.

JAL said 14 Japanese and a New Zealander survived the crash and were being treated at Moscow hospitals.

A 10th survivor was reported earlier but a check of hospitals produced only 13 persons. The airline said the 10th person was missing and presumed dead.

Two of the Americans were Monroe S. Bretter, president of the Bretter International Sales Corp. of New York, and Norman R. Sackheim, an importer from Highland Park, Ill., both of whom boarded the plane in Copenhagen.

The third American was identified only as C. Gerbic, who boarded in Moscow.

A U.S. Embassy official reported earlier that two Americans survived, but this proved to be erroneous.

The four-engine DC8 was on a trans-Siberian flight from Copenhagen to Tokyo. It had climbed to about 400 feet after taking off, then plunged downward and crashed about 150 yards from the end of a runway at Sheremetyevo airport.

The surviving New Zealander, Eldridge B. Smith, 42, said one of the starboard engines burst into flames just before the plane started down, the airline reported.

The plane's pilot was Tomomasa Nomo, 38, a veteran of more than 5,000 flight hours. He died in the crash, JAL said.

Parole for Lt. Calley?

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—There are indications an Army panel considering the clemency plea of Lt. William L. Calley has recommended lifting some of the restrictions now imposed on him or possibly suggested some form of parole, the Daily Oklahoman says.

The newspaper said in today's editions it had learned that three clemency and parole officers who interviewed Calley Monday had submitted a report favorable to Calley, found guilty in March 1971 of slaying 22 civilians during the My Lai massacre in Vietnam. The newspaper added: "There were indications the panel may have suggested lifting some of the restrictions now imposed or even some form of parole."

Beef goes down, pork goes up

By DILLON GRAHAM
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumers paid slightly less for beef last month but a record high for pork, the Agriculture Department reported today.

For the second consecutive month, there was a small decrease in the general retail cost of food. The market price of a basket of foods produced on U.S. farms decreased 0.2 per cent in October, following an 0.1 per cent decrease in September. However, the October cost was 5.8 per cent more than a year ago.

Pork, the second most popular meat, again climbed to a record price average of $7.5 cents per pound, up 1 per cent from September and 22.7 per cent more than a year ago. The share returned to farmers was 44.4 per cent more than a year ago.

The middleman share for pork was 37.4 cents per pound, an increase of 8.7 per cent over September.

The October retail price of beef, an important indicator in the cost of living, was slightly less than $1.13 per pound average of all cuts. That included both hamburger and steak. The price declined 0.1 per cent from last month. Averages were 4.9 cents per pound less than the record high last July.

Last week the Bureau of Labor Statistics said take-home food in October rose 0.1 per cent from September. The Agriculture Department report covers only food produced on American farms and does not include imported items and seafood products.

The BLS report also covers meat prices only for the first week of the month while the USDA surveys retail beef and pork for the entire month.

The USDA report shows that of the just under $1.13 per pound paid by housewives for beef, the "farm value" was 60.1 cents, compared with 60.6 in September and 77.5 cents in June and July, when cattle prices were higher. Of the $7.5 cents per pound for pork, the "farm value" was 50.1 cents, compared with 52.2 in September and 51.5 in August.

The farm value is not the price producers get for cattle, but is their share of what consumers pay at retail stores. It requires nearly 2.3 pounds of live steer, for example, to make one pound of supermarket beef.

A total market basket list of food items, enough to feed a typical family for a year, cost an annual rate of $1,317 in October, down $5 from the record highs in July and August.

Of the total, the farm share was $523, down from $538 in September. The middleman share—for transportation, processing and merchandising—was $794 in October, up $12 from the $782 in September.

The department said lower prices for fresh fruits and trying chickens contributed most to the decline in prices in October.

New leadership for Pentagon

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Elliot L. Richardson will bring a new style of leadership to the Pentagon as secretary of Defense as well as a new management team in what is certain to be a wholesale reshuffling of top defense officials.

Aside from the immediate problems of the new budget and the old war, one of the first tasks facing the new secretary will be to rebuild the Pentagon leadership from the top down.

Richardson, now secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, is likely to draw on his present staff when he moves across the Potomac River from HEW on Jan. 30. Among them is likely to be Jonathan Moore, 39, said to be Richardson's alter ego at HEW and himself a former Pentagon official under Robert McNamara.

There will be a number of key jobs to fill as several officials, some holdovers from the Johnson administration who agreed to stay on under Melvin Laird, have already indicated a desire to leave.

Richardson will have help from two deputy secretaries, one responsible for procurement and management and the other for international affairs and relations with the National Security Council. Traditionally there has been one deputy, now Kenneth Rush. A second was approved by Congress earlier this year, although the post was not filled.

Rush, 62, former ambassador to West Germany, had been mentioned as a possible successor to Laird and is not likely to remain at the Pentagon. He may go to the State Department as undersecretary, a job held by Richardson before he took the HEW post in 1970.

The Pentagon is the largest bureaucracy in the world with its 2.3 million military personnel and 1.1 million civilian employees. The 110,000 Defense Department employees who are scheduled to be trimmed from the rolls next year equals the total number employed by HEW.

Running the Pentagon is conceded to be the toughest job in Washington next to the presidency. Laird has said he took it only because no one else wanted it. He agreed to stay only four years.

Richardson, 52, brings to the job his background as a lawyer, his involvement in Republican politics in his native

Massachusetts and years at State and HEW.

A quiet thinker, he prefers to work out of the spotlight, in contrast to Laird who has held more press conferences and given more public speeches than any previous Defense secretary. Richardson has been considered one of the most liberal members of the Nixon Cabinet, while Laird was considered a conservative.

Ahead are some of the same problems Laird wrestled with: keeping the budget in check, completing the withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam, soothing racial troubles in the armed forces, finishing the transition to an all-volunteer force, dealing in the broad range of negotiations with the Soviet Union over arms control and the reduction of forces in Central Europe.

Inside look at Roy L. Ash

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's new budget director heads a huge, financially troubled conglomerate which is trying to get $380 million from the federal government with claims the Navy says are unsubstantiated.

The newly named Cabinet-level official is Roy L. Ash, president of Litton Industries, once a leading glamour stock on Wall Street during the heyday of the conglomerates.

The company, which Ash co-founded nearly 20 years ago, now is struggling with delays and cost overruns on shipbuilding for the Navy. The difficulties helped plunge company earnings from $50 million in fiscal 1971 to $1.1 million in fiscal 1972. This year Litton's common stock price has fallen by more than half.

Litton has claimed the Navy should pay it $380 million for cancellation costs and design changes encountered in its construction of five giant helicopter assault ships.

The Navy said in September the claims were unsubstantiated, but it nonetheless continued an interim financing arrangement through February 1973. The original contract was for $666 million.

The Navy wrote Litton in June expressing concern "about Litton's ability to perform this contract even under your extended delivery schedule." It said the assault ship delays "could have a direct and potentially disastrous effect upon your ability to deliver the DD963 class destroyers" under a separate contract.

Litton's new automated shipyard at Pascagoula, Miss., has been plagued with difficulties in carrying out the Navy work.

Litton also has $168 million in three other shipbuilding claims pending before the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals.

The Congressional Joint Economic Committee, concerned about the shipbuilding deals, currently is investigating Litton.

Asked Tuesday how he would handle cases such as the shipbuilding matter in which Litton dealt with the government, Ash drew a comparison with a professional football player who is traded to another team.

"I doubt that in the next match he would favor the team he just left."

Ash told a news conference after his appointment was announced that he would sell his 200,000 shares of Litton common and preferred stock, worth well over $2 million. He said he would formally resign his $195,000-a-year job Dec. 9.

million dollars." It has been a pleasure to watch our system grow from just a few buildings to its present size.

Jones Field House, the high school annex, science building, Beryl Henry Elementary, Garland Elementary and Brookwood Elementary are just a few of the many facilities that have been added during his 31 years as superintendent. The most rewarding aspect of his career as superintendent he said is the challenge it presents. "There is no monotony in this job. Each day presents new problems and new challenges. I will certainly miss that."

Jones' retirement plans are simple. "I just want to relax a while, enjoy a golf game now and then and spend some time with my granddaughter and son in Little Rock. There's plenty around here for me to do."

"My association with the board members, teachers, and students has been most pleasant over the years," he said. There will always be a lot of unfinished tasks as long as there are schools, but I know the Hope School district is on a sound financial foundation and has a successful future.

"I will leave my post next June with mixed feelings. It has been my life and will be hard to give up. My heart has been in this for so long and I will miss the association with the students. However, I can leave with the feeling that there is a good and bright future ahead for the school system. This district is in the best financial condition it has experienced in its history and I feel it would be a good time for a younger man to take over."

presidential mountaintop retreat, White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, said: "No meeting is planned at this time."

Underlying the importance of today's meeting was the presence of Kissinger and his top aide, deputy assistant for national security affairs Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr. South Vietnamese Ambassador Tran Kim Phuong was also invited.

Some U.S. officials have said the current break in the talks between Kissinger and North Vietnamese negotiator Le Duc Tho was intended by Kissinger to point out to the South Vietnamese that no more concessions could be gained in the Paris talks.

With varying degrees of intensity, Thieu and his aides have objected to the absence of any firm pledge for withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops from the South.

$300,000 phone project begins

A $300,000 telephone cable installation project is underway which will provide additional facilities for telephone customers in the area near the intersection of State Highway 29 and Interstate 30 in Hope.

"The cables will provide additional service and replace existing facilities for present and future telephone users in this area," Bill O'Neal, wire chief of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, said.

About 18 miles of underground and aerial cables will be placed in the project. The cable will be placed on North Hazel Street, the Proving Grounds area, the DeAnn Community and West Avenue B.

O'Neal said the installation buried cable in this project is in keeping with the telephone company's policy to put cable underground wherever it is feasible to do so.

"Buried cable is less likely to be damaged by severe weather and it also helps enhance the natural beauty of the surrounding area," he said.

The project is due for completion in late 1973.

Flower Cookery is an ancient art

By GAYNOR MADDOX

The Christmas season is a time of gaiety, a season of giving of lovely gifts. Into this mood, comes a delightful book called "Flower Cookery."

The birth of the book started years ago when the author, Mary MacNicol, and her husband, moved to Mexico. She learned there that when Cortez arrived in what is now called Mexico City, he found that Montezuma and his subjects used flowers lavishly in their cooking.

"Just before the creation of man, flowering plants appeared, providing food and medicine for man. Legend says that the lotus was the first flower to appear on earth. The byproducts of the tropical palms (coconut, sago, date) are as important as the oil from the olive tree. The banana tree produces more nourishment than wheat or potatoes. The apricot with its copper and iron is beneficial to anemics. Ginseng and rue are good for the infirmities of old age. There are restraining plants for almost every appetite, aberration or mood, including fear, eroticism, grief and terror. Orchids were considered such a powerful aphrodisiac that saloop was sold in the coffee houses in England."

That is how Mrs. MacNicol expresses her ideas in the beautifully-made paperback. Orchids are symbols of wealth and perhaps showiness. But there is another side to them. During the 18th century when orchid eating was very popular partly because of its nutrition and partly because of its aphrodisiac qualities, the roots were made into what was called saloop. They are full of nutrition they are very rare and only under pressure of extreme hunger would it be justifiable to eat them, and that even at the present time in remote districts of the United States and Canada the roots have a large reputation as nerve tonics and heat-alls.

Though most of us will not have the opportunity to enjoy eating lotus flowers, here are some philosophical notes on this floral subject. "Herodotus, an historian who lived circa 500 B.C., went to Egypt and wrote the following: 'But to obtain food more easily, they have the following invention when the river is full—they gather and dry in the sun then having pounded the middle of the lotus, which resembles a poppy, they make a bread of it and bake it. The root also of this lotus is fit for food, and is tolerably sweet, and is round and of the size of an apple. There are also other lilies, like roses, that grow in the river, the fruit of which is contained in a separate pod that springs up from the root, in form very like a wasp's nest; in this there are many berries, fit to be eaten, of the size of an olive stone, and they are eaten both fresh and dried.' The Chinese often flavored rice with lotus flowers."

We have quoted parts of "Flower Cookery" that may amuse and brighten the holiday spirits. Later, read "Flower Cookery" for more serious purposes.

Youth points the way...again Smocks are season's style setters

By HELEN HENNESSY

NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Youth perception is not to be overlooked where fashion trends are concerned. Who was it that recognized the blue jeans, the poncho, the apron and the workshirt as strictly utilitarian items with contemporary potential for fashion pizzazz? The young.

Today these items are accepted and worn as with-it sportswear by the banker's wife as well as his daughter. Latest on the list of work-wear fashionables is the smock, once worn solely as a cover-up by artists, sculptors, seamstresses and anyone who required a mobile overgarment to protect her own clothes. Youth has opted for the smock as its latest fashion love and it can now be found in a variety of lengths and fabrics.

As a jean pop-over the short smock can't be beat. Perky plaids will be found in button-front smocks with choir boy collars. Or select a sweater from the bumper crop of little knitted wonders like the bibbed and embroidered smock of washable Acrilan.

Daytime smock separates and dresses offer the young individualist the opportunity to add fashion details of her own to the simple smock shape. Keep the length short so it won't look dowdy and add bright colored pantyhose or saucy-striped knee h's to balance the proportion. Smock separates are printed with giant criss-crossed posies. Pick one of the vibrant crayon colors from the print for a floppy hat to top it off—and pin up the brim with a rhinestone pin.

The smock topper is destined to be the sure-shape for jacket collectors this season. Sophisticated, well-heeled girls will find fur smocks to wear over slinky bare-backed evening dresses. Fluffy fleece smocks will be cuddly and warm enough to fend off brisk breezes on football afternoons. Or for more casual evenings, there is a shaped soft red double-knit smock to pair with a matching knit shirt and turtan ankle-length skirt.

Fashion artists from 6 to 60 will paint the town red—or blue or print or plaid in the fall selection of smocks to step out in.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

The smocked topper (left) with a jersey shirt, tucked into a skirt of ankle-length Acrilan plaid by Catalina, appeals to the more sophisticated trend setter. Artist's smock by It Still Does (center) worn with farmer's jeans and milkmaid's clogs keeps the young in style for leisure pursuits. Prank' smock separates in primary colors printed on jersey (right) vie for career attention far from studio. (All Wear-Dated by Monsanto)

Male Impotence on Increase?

DEAR HELEN:

I once thought male impotence was a problem of old age or illness, and only deep psychiatric troubles caused this affliction in the young. But recently I've read many complaints from young women (wives and otherwise). The question is, "Whatever happened to male virility?"

I'm asking, too, as my husband is only 38, but almost completely turned off. There's no one else. I'm sure he loves me. No problem with sex when we were first married, though I'll admit he was much more ardent before the ceremony. But increasingly he's "too tired," "buzzy" involved in a late movie, or he jumps out of bed mornings before I'm awake, then naps before dinner. He's not THAT tired. I work too, and my job is more demanding than his.

I know you can't diagnose long distance, but if you'd discuss the possible causes of male impotence (in our case sex-lag—I think he's able but not willing) maybe one of them might hit home and encourage him to try harder. —READY AND WAITING, AND WAITING DEAR R AND W.W.W.

No one really knows whether male impotence (or "sex-lag") is on the increase, or the same old problem is increasingly more discussed and perhaps this very discussion increases the problem.

One psychiatric theory attributes the "new impotence" among young males to media-inspired insistence on "performance" among liberated females. The more a woman expects, sometimes, the less she gets, for she makes (or seems to make) demands that her man be the perfect lover when he suspects he's a little less than run-of-the-mill. The "tyranny of the orgasm"—emphasis on the mechanics of sex—the tendency these days to blame man for woman's disappointments—books like "The Female Eunuch"—all can have a damaging effect on the fragile male ego, and when he's doubtful of his powers, nature turns off the current.

The decline of the double standard and the emergence of the N.O.W. woman might hurry an insecure fellow along the road to impotence. Experienced females tend to compare lovers: When a man is always striving to be "the best," the worst may happen. (Not that I'm in favor of the double standard and second-class status, but men raised to the tune of male supremacy can be shook to their vitals by women who sing, "I can do (and have) anything better than you...and you...and you...")

Then there's the Lysistrata syndrome in reverse. Resentment of the new "Anti-Goddess" who not only competes with men but expects them to perform for her, might lead to the ultimate weapon, a sexual turn-off. A recent article in a national magazine indicates Harvard men aren't the avid girl-chasers they once were. (As Harvard goes, so goes the nation?—Not really, but it's true: more and more these days the gals pursue to conquer, and guys are relishing that feminine word, "No!")

Sometimes a wife can "talk" her mate into temporary impotence. If she comes on too strong, asks too many questions, he may suspect he isn't high on her rating chart. And suddenly he isn't. We women believe we're the sensitive ones, but remember this: we've never had to worry about OUR potency. What a tremendous burden this must be for an apprehensive man who knows he can't fake it! Between job pressures, social and psychological buffeting and the modern insecurities of marriage, the spouse of "Ms. Great Expectations" may often fall short. And pretty soon he'd rather not try than risk failure. I haven't mentioned the more traditional causes of male frigidity: boredom, chronic tiredness, depression, illness, repressive upbringing with attendant hang-ups, homosexuality, the "Madonna Complex" (when the man puts his wife on a pedestal and can only enjoy sex with so-called "fallen women"), or simply drifting out of love. To discuss this complicated subject in a 600-word column is, in fact, like trapping an elephant in a butterfly net. But I'll end on an "up" note: most impotence not of physical origin is reversible, if the subject has the right psychiatric help and (or) the right mate. —H.

"The Store That Has Time For You"

'Horns dominate All-SWC team

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Champion Texas landed seven players on The Associated Press 1972 All-Southwest Conference football team with fullback Roosevelt Leaks of the Longhorns taking Player of the Year honors.

Besides being named Player of the Year by the SWC coaches who voted in the poll, Leaks was named Offensive Player of the Year and Newcomer of the Year.

The sophomore fullback from Brenham, Tex., helped lead Texas to a 9-1 record with his powerhouse runs and the 'Horns fifth consecutive SWC title and trip to the Cotton Bowl.

Other Longhorn first teamers included quarterback Alan Lowry, offensive tackle Jerry Sisemore, offensive guard Travis Roach, defensive end Malcolm Minnick, and linebackers Randy Braband and Glen Gaspard.

Texas also had four players on the second team.

Besides Leaks and Lowry—Texas' I&L boys—Arkansas' Dickey Morton and Mike Luttrell joined them in the backfield—in this the year of the runner in the SWC.

Rice had four players named to the first team, including wide receiver Ed Collins, tight end Gary Butler, offensive tackle Ron Waedemon and defensive back Bruce Henley.

Other first team offensive performers included offensive guard Guy Morris of Texas Christian, and center Russell Ingram of Texas Tech.

Roger Goree, Baylor's tremendous defensive end, was named Defensive Player of the Year and anchored the defense. Other defensive first teamers included tackles Louis Kelcher of SMU and Charlie Davis of TCU, noseguard Donald Rives of Texas Tech, linebacker Grady Hoemann of Texas A&M, and backs Robert Popelka of SMU, Lyle Blackwood of TCU and Robert Murski of Texas A&M. Twelve players were named to the first team defensive unit.

Newcomer Grant Teaff, who brought respectability to Baylor football and more victories than the Bears had enjoyed in three years, was named Coach of the Year by his fellow critics, narrowly edging Darrell Royal of Texas.

Quarterback Joe Barnes, who led Texas Tech to an 8-3 season and a berth in the Sun Bowl, headed the second team backfield that included Baylor's Gary Lacy and SMU's Alvin Maxson and Wayne Morris.

Leaks and Kelcher were the only sophomores on the first unit.

Hope splits pair

The Hope Ladycats ran their season record to 5-0 with a 41-27 win over McNeil last night in Jones Field House. In the second game, the Bobcats lost to the McNeil Senior Boys, 47-44.

As usual, the Ladycats jumped out to an early lead and went on to win.

Janet McCain scored 24 points for Hope and Ann Leslie led McNeil with 15. Also turning in a fine game were Betty Honeycutt, Judy Reyenga, and Mona Rowe, the Ladycat guards.

The second game involved a lot of excitement and disputed calls.

Ungray Murray gave McNeil an early 1-0 lead with a free throw. But the Bobcats scored eight consecutive points helping them to a 10-7 first quarter lead.

The Lions then battled to take over 19-18 with ten seconds left in the half. Jimmy Smith scored at the buzzer, allowing the Bobcats to carry a 20-19 lead to the dressing room.

Bud Martin scored six points in the third quarter and Hope led 32-28.

Martin hit three free throws to give the Bobcats a 36-29 lead early in the fourth period. However Gerone Lockhart led an inspired Lion comeback to victory, 47-44. Martin topped all scorers with 15 points, while Alton Jackson was McNeil's leading scorer with 13.

Thursday night will slate the Bobkittens and Kitty Cats against Prescott's junior teams in Jones Field House.

Bradshaw leads Steelers to win

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The game was tied 10-10 in the fourth quarter when quarterback Terry Bradshaw handed the ball to Franco Harris.

"I was supposed to go to the left," said Pittsburgh's rookie running back. "But there was nothing there—so I just stopped and went back to the right."

Smart move. He wound up dashing 61 yards—within one of a touchdown—before two Minnesota defenders hauled him down. One play later, Bradshaw bulled over for the touchdown that sent the Steelers on the way to a "must win" last Sunday, a 23-10 triumph over the Vikings, who needed it just as much.

The game-breaking 61-yard draw play was only one indication of Harris' contribution to the victory that kept the Steelers tied with Cleveland atop the American Conference East.

A better indication—and the one that won him the selection today as The Associated Press Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League—was the 128 yards he rolled up against the tough Minnesota defense, 12 of them coming on a first-quarter touchdown sweep.

It puts the Steelers' top draft choice, a 6-foot-2, 230-pounder from Penn State, in a unique and exclusive club since it's the second time this season Harris has been selected Player of the Week, joining Larry Brown of the Washington Redskins. Harris was chosen two weeks ago when he ripped through the Kansas City Chiefs for 134 yards.

This is it... the last chance

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — This is it... the last chance to better last seasons' record and keep the alumni off our backs.

With one weekend left in the college football season—plus, of course, the bowls—the 1972 record shows a percentage of .715. A year ago, the final regular-season accounting read .720.

There shouldn't be any problem in bettering last year's mark... not with such easy games to pick this time as Southern Cal-Notre Dame, Alabama-Auburn and Army-Navy.

Notre Dame at Southern California—The last time Notre Dame won the national championship was in 1968 and the Fighting Irish did it convincingly with a 51-0 rout of Southern Cal in their final game.

That, by the way, was also the last time Notre Dame beat USC and it is said that Coach John McKay took a vow he would never again lose to the Irish. He's won three and tied the other two since then.

Notre Dame, 8-1, won't win any championships this year, but Southern Cal might. The Trojans have been ranked No. 1 since the opening week of the season, while Notre Dame, currently 10th, has been in and out of the Top Ten. Southern Cal.

Alabama vs. Auburn at Birmingham—Bear Bryant leads Shug Jordan 10-4, including a 31-7 rout last year over Heisman Trophy-winner Pat Sullivan and Co. Before the Bear lumbered into Tuscaloosa, Auburn led the series 12-9-1. It now stands 19-16-1 in favor of the Crimson Tide. Time and tide wait for no man, 'tis written. Alabama.

Oklahoma State at Oklahoma—The Cowboys have beaten three Big Eight bowl teams in Colorado, Missouri and Iowa State, but they're going to spend the holidays at home. They'll really have a lot to crow about if they beat... Oklahoma.

Army vs. Navy at Philadelphia—This is the best Navy team since the Roger Staubach years. This is the best Army team since last year. Navy.

Louisiana State at Tulane—LSU stumbled into a 3-3 tie with Florida last week but don't the Tigers always beat Tulane? They have every year since 1948, except for two ties. LSU.

Tennessee at Vanderbilt—T for two isn't Vandy's cup of tea. To wit, in the last two weeks the Commodores have lost to Tulane 21-7 and Tampa 30-7. Now, it's T as in... Tennessee.

And in the bowls:

—Tangerine Bowl: Tampa over Kent State.

—Liberty Bowl: Iowa State over Georgia Tech.

—Peach Bowl: West Virginia over North Carolina State.

—Fiesta Bowl: Arizona State over Missouri.

—Sun Bowl: North Carolina over Texas Tech.

—Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl: Louisiana State over Tennessee.

—Gator Bowl: Colorado over Auburn.

—Orange Bowl: Nebraska over Notre Dame.

—Sugar Bowl: Oklahoma over Penn State.

—Rose Bowl: Southern Cal over Ohio State.

—Cotton Bowl: Final Upset Special of the season... Texas over Alabama.

While the Terps, who won the National Invitational Tournament to close out the 1971-2 season, are deep at every position and should maintain a high ranking provided Elmore recovers.

Temporary palsy is later crisis

The continuing perils of Pistol Pete

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK — (NFA) — Pete Maravich is suffering from Bell's Palsy, a temporary nerve disorder which has caused headaches and a partial paralysis of the right side of his face. It developed in early November. In one game recently he wore a pair of motorcycle goggles to prevent a possible scratching of his eyeball since he cannot now close his eye.

Last season he was attacked by mononucleosis and the season before that, as a rookie, he was attacked by envy. Perhaps the first led to the second which has led to the last.

Maravich received $2 million to sign a basketball contract with the Atlanta Hawks in 1970, after three All-American seasons at Louisiana State University.

He drew large paychecks, big crowds, extravagant publicity and wholesale resentment from his teammates. He joined a team that had won the Western Division title of the NBA the season before. Joe Caldwell, Walt Bellamy, Lou Hudson, Walt Hazzard and Bill Bridges—last year's stars and this year's bit players—did not accept Maravich's presence. Caldwell wanted a dollar more than Maravich received. He didn't get it and fled to the ABA. Hazzard and Bridges were eventually traded.

The fact that Maravich was white and they were black—in a Southern town—and he became so rich so fast was part of the resentment. So was his showboating style of play. One banner in Philadelphia read: "HEY, PISTOL PETE, WHY DO HOT DOGS COST TWO MILLION DOLLARS IN ATLANTA AND ONLY 35 CENTS IN PHILADELPHIA?"

When Maravich ran into teammates in a coffee shop,

FLOPPY-SOCKED as ever but sporting a new hairdo and mustache, Pete Maravich drives against New York's Dave DeBusschere in a contest in Atlanta, just before Pete was hit by an attack of Bell's palsy.

he invariably picked up the tab, in an attempt at amicability. The act was interpreted as more mere strutting.

Meanwhile, Pete's classy passes were bouncing off teammates' heads. In practice, those same guys were after his scalp. In games Pistol Pete was shooting from the hip. He felt the pressure to score big, look fancy and thus earn his keep. When the league's players voted for the Rookie-of-the-Year, Maravich received just six votes, out of nearly 200. He was mortified.

Things improved on his team, as he slowly began to settle down last season. But mononucleosis laid him low. He missed 15 games early in the season and never hit high form. His weight dropped as low as 172 pounds from his usual playing weight of 205. On his return, the uniform on his 6-5 frame looked as limp as if it were hanging on a line. His eyes hugely dominated his face. He was forlorn.

Last season he took karate lessons. He said it was to build his body up to help his basketball defense. He felt the quick moves and shuffle motion of karate were similar to defense fundamentals. Once he just sort of waved as his man went by on defense. Now, according to Walt Frazier of the Knicks, "he's cut out the clownin'. It's a new Pistol Pete."

He even looks refurbished, sporting black hair ("he doesn't dye it, but he may use a rinse," said Hawk publicist Tom McCallister) and a black mustache. His head hair is shorter than in the past ("Once I just waited for him to stop dribbling and let the hair fall in his face, then I'd steal the ball from him real easy," said Frazier).

Maravich is passing more and better, hitting men who are looking. And he is discarding that off-balance, 35-foot shot.

Angels still fishing for players

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

HONOLULU (AP) — After hooking five players in the biggest deal thus far at the trade-happy winter baseball meetings, General Manager Harry Dalton of the California Angels announced that he was still fishing.

"Just because we made this deal, it doesn't mean that we have everything we need," said Dalton. "We still have to fill a few more positions. And we can still use more hitting."

The Angels did all right, though, in the hitting department by acquiring slugger Frank Robinson from the Los Angeles Dodgers Tuesday in a seven-player deal that kept trading activity here at a roller coaster pace.

The seventh deal of the young meetings sent Robinson, pitchers Bill Singer and Mike Strahler and infielders Bobby Valentine and Billy Grabarkewitz from Los Angeles to California for pitcher Andy Messersmith and third baseman Ken McMullen.

A total of 28 players have changed uniforms since the free-wheeling general managers got things started Saturday.

Maryland team recuperating

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — "Being No. 3 is all right to start out with—but I'd rather be No. 1," says Lefty Driesell, the Maryland basketball coach.

Maryland, No. 3 nationally in the preseason poll, is ailing as it opens its season tonight against Brown but is eager to launch a new campaign.

The Terps face Brown with Len Elmore, the team's top rebounder, bothered by a strained knee and two other players sidelined by more serious knee problems.

Howard White, who averaged nine points a game as Maryland rolled up a 27-5 record last year, has only recently resumed practice while recuperating from a knee operation. Jap Trimble, another guard who averaged 6.5 last year, is slated for knee surgery on Dec. 14.

But the Terps, who won the National Invitational Tournament to close out the 1971-2 season, are deep at every position and should maintain a high ranking provided Elmore recovers.

While 6-foot-11 Tom McMillen paced Maryland with a 20.8-point scoring average last season, Elmore was a key factor as he averaged 10.8 points and topped McMillen in rebounds, 11 to 9.6. Both are juniors.

McMillen and either Elmore or sophomore Tom Roy—both 6-9 players—will start at the double post positions, with senior Bob Bodell as the swing guard and senior Jim O'Brien at wing in the front court.

John Lucas, one of only two freshmen recruited this year by Driesell, will open at the point position in the backcourt. The other frosh, Mo Howard, is expected to see a lot of action as a substitute for Bodell when he fully recovers from a chipped ankle bone.

In college cage action Tuesday night, results included: Texas 81, South Alabama 67; Centenary 90, Northwestern Texas 77; Clemson 86, Georgia Tech 77; North Texas State 63, Fullerton State 54; Missouri 81, Louisiana Tech 61; Michigan State 90, Toledo 96 and Baylor 63, St. Mary's 61.

Guard Mike Robinson scored 25 points as Michigan State edged a stubborn Toledo team that surged back from as much as a 16-point deficit.

Sophomore Van Gregg made his varsity debut with Clemson by scoring 33 points while John Brown's 24 points provided the offensive spark for Missouri.

Bobby Iversen, who scored 21 points, snapped a 54-54 tie and poured in five points in the final minute, keying North Texas' nonconference triumph. Baylor weathered a St. Mary's rally and rode Charlie McKinney's 25 points and 18 rebounds to victory.

Morton makes All-SWC team

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Dickey Morton is living proof that big things come in small packages.

The 5-foot-11, 180-pound junior—he weighed 160 when he first came to Arkansas—is the only Arkansas Razorback to be named to The Associated Press All-Southwest Conference football team.

He was a second-team AP All-SWC choice as a sophomore but advanced to the first team this year after a record-setting season.

As a freshman, he weighed 160, but got to 170 or 172 as a sophomore and now is at 180 "and sometimes over," he said.

"On height, I guess I'm 5-11, or 5-10½. I like to stretch it."

What he stretched this season was the opposing team's players—all over the field.

The explosive Razorback tailback piled up 1,188 yards to set an Arkansas single-season rushing record that also ranks third-best in SWC history to 1,283 by Jim Swink of TCU in 1955 and 1,302 by Bob Smith of Texas A&M in 1950.

Morton's 242 carries, tops in the league this year, rank second to the record 243 last year by Stahle Vincent of Rice.

While Morton's statistics, one of the few bright spots in an otherwise dismal season for Arkansas, helped move him to the No. 1 All-SWC unit, four Razorbacks who made the No. 1 team in 1971 failed to this year.

They were receiver Mike Reppond, lineman Ron Revard, linebacker Danny Rhodes and quarterback Joe Ferguson. Last year, Ferguson was chosen offensive player of the year. Rhodes, hampered by injuries this season, was picked as sophomore of the year in 1971.

None of the four made even the All-SWC second team this year. On the second team this year were guard Tom Reed, defensive tackle Don Wunderly and defensive back Louis Campbell.

Morton came to Arkansas from Kimball High School in Dallas and repeatedly has shown his breakaway skills.

His longest run this year was 39 yards for a touchdown against Rice. He also caught 12 passes for 74 yards and returned one kickoff 28 yards.

He scored six TDs this year, same as 1971.

He carried 127 times for 831 yards in 1971, with his longest a 50-yard TD run against California, and returned five punts for 39 yards and nine kickoffs for 269 yards.

Morton runs the 100-yard dash in 9.7 seconds and the 40-yard sprint in 4.5 seconds. "I manage that pretty consistently, and I have since I was a freshman," he said.

"Dickey is the sort whose leaving when he's even with you," Coach Frank Broyles of Arkansas has said. "He's got that afterburner; he sees a crack, he turns it on and he's gone."

Morton is a pre-veterinary major, but says the demands of football have kept him from taking some lab courses he should have. "So, now, really, I'm not sure what I'll do."

Council hears plea for teachers' salary hikes

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Salary increases for teachers and expansion of the public school program for educating handicapped children are called for in an education budget presented to the Arkansas Legislative Council Tuesday.

Under the teacher salary plan, the legislature would increase state aid to local districts to provide an average increase of $600 per teaching unit in each year of the coming biennium for salaries and $168 per teacher unit for maintenance and operations each year, according to A. W. Ford, state Education director, who presented the budget to the council. Ford said the plan would mean that teachers would receive an average $600 salary raise each year, since the local districts would distribute the money according to their own salary formulas.

In addition, he said, under the state aid formula, districts would receive unequal amounts for salary increases.

Ford said the range per teacher unit — a unit is one teacher for every 21 children — would be about $300 to $700, depending on the wealth of the district.

The council was told by Ford that the state Education Board and Gov. Dale Bumpers were in agreement on the teacher salary increase plan, but that the governor's recommendation for financing public school education for the handicapped was less than the board's proposal.

The board proposes an increase of $13,733.33 in minimum foundation aid in the first fiscal year and an increase of $27.6 million the second year. The allocation for the current year is $112,750,000.

public school education of handicapped children is $600,000 and Ford asked for an increase of about $1.5 million in each year of the coming biennium. Bumpers has recommended an increase of $100,000 in each year.

Ford noted there was litigation in federal courts of 18 states demanding that states step up their efforts to provide educational classes for the handicapped. He said there was "some talk" of such a suit in Arkansas.

Sen. John Bearden of Leachville said many agencies offered services to handicapped children and it appeared "we might need more coordination" of their activities.

Ford said he thought the majority of handicapped children should be placed in special education classes of the public schools rather than in other programs, but said the schools could not make a proper evaluation of whether a child could profit more from the public school classes or some other program.

Ford suggested that the legislature give the evaluation authority to the Department of Social and Rehabilitative Services.

Ford also told the council that it appeared advisable that the Education Department hire a lawyer to represent it in workmen's compensation claims filed by public school employees.

Sunday is Christmas Seal Sunday in county

"Sunday, Dec. 3, has been designated as a special day by the Arkansas Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association as 'Christmas Seal Sunday,'" says Mrs. Dee McMurrugh County Christmas Seal chairman.

She added, "Concern for our fellowman is a fundamental religious principle. It is only appropriate that houses of worship reach out their hands and hearts to the Christmas Seal organization. It has been reaching out its hand and concentrating all its efforts toward betterment of health of Hempstead County for 66 years."

In every church, the congregations are urged to answer their Christmas Seal letter. This is the only means by which the program of the Arkansas Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association is supported.

Mrs. McMurrugh concluded the announcement with the fact that Emphysema is alarmingly on the increase. There were 246 deaths from the lung cripple in Arkansas in 1971.

New movies about Jesus

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Movie audiences in 1973 will be able to view three new versions of the Jesus story that are far removed from "The King of Kings" and "The Greatest Story Ever Told."

The most eagerly anticipated of the new films is "Jesus Christ Superstar," which is now finishing its shooting in Israel. It is, of course, the movie version of the rock opera that has proved a gold mine in theater and concert versions all over the world.

MCA, which has already earned millions through the original cast album by its subsidiary Decca Records, hopes to make much more on the movie through its Universal Pictures.

Norman Jewison, who also directed "Fiddler on the Roof," began filming "Superstar" in mid-August. He chose 30 different locations in Israel — not the true locales of the Christ story but places that could double for 1st century Palestine.

The cast: Ted Neeley as Jesus and Carl Anderson as Judas, both from the cast that played Universal studio last summer; Yvonne Elliman as Mary Magdalene and Barry Dennen as Pilate, both from the New York cast. Release date: June 1973.

Columbia at the same time has been filming "Godspell," the off-Broadway musical based on the Book of Matthew.

"Godspell," most noted for its haunting song "Day by Day," has been filmed in a modern setting, using the cityscape of New York as its background. The script portrays Jesus as a teacher and friend, rather than a divine person.

Scheduled release for "Godspell": Easter 1973.

An enterprising producer named Larry Buchanan expects to beat both musicals to the nation's theaters with a dramatic film, "The Rebel Jesus."

"Jesus Christ Superstar" is a rip-off; there's nothing new there," Buchanan declared. "The authors failed to introduce anything to help us understand the man."

"Godspell" is a better approach, but it still offers little that is new."

"The Rebel Jesus" theorizes that Jesus survived the Cross; was rescued by a religious sect and nursed back to health by the redeemed Mary Magdalene. Then he was pursued by the centurions and killed. No miracles. It was filmed in Tunisia with an unknown cast.

Farm-City Week is observed in Hope

The Kiwanis Farm-City Week program on Tuesday attracted by excess of 45 farmer guests, friends of Kiwanians, who met to hear Dr. Glen W. Hardy, Dean of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics at the U of A Division of Agriculture in Fayetteville, as he spoke to the Kiwanians and their guests.

Kiwanian Horace Fuller, Chmn. of the Kiwanis Agriculture Committee, arranged the program and welcomed the guests, all of whom were introduced individually. He then presented Cecil Bittle, Asst. Director of the U. of A. Southwest Branch Experiment Station, who introduced the speaker.

In his opening remarks Dr. Hardy stated, in a rather light vein, that though he was an agriculture major when he came to Arkansas 17 years ago, he didn't know the difference in a cockle burr and a cotton plant.

His talk was a three-fold presentation, The Current State of the Agri-Economy; How We Have Reacted to It; and some of the speakers views on the situation. "The Agri-economy has changed tremendously in the last 30 years in this part of our country," he said, "We have gone from cotton and grains to Soy Beans, Cattle, Poultry, and Forest Lands."

In the years 1964 to 1969, inclusive, a six year period, cattle production in Hempstead County has increased 41 per cent, broiler production 80 per cent, soy bean production 500 per cent, while there has been a decrease in cotton production of 86 per cent. In those same years income from agricultural pursuits has increased 150 per cent.

The speaker listed briefly a number of research projects being conducted by our Southwest Branch Experiment Station, and some agricultural practices that are being studied and adopted all over the United States. Agri-research pays for itself.

"Agriculture needs the support of Business and Business needs Agriculture," said Dr. Hardy.

For a number of years the Hope Star has chosen the occasion of the Kiwanis Farm-City Week program to present a bronze plaque to the Hempstead County Farm Family of the Year in commemoration of the honor they have brought to their county. B. N. Holt, Secretary-Manager of the Hope-Hempstead County Chamber of Commerce, on behalf of Hope Star, presented this year's plaque to Mr. and Mrs. David Cummings and their son, Keith, of the Patmos community, 1972 Farm Family of the Year for Hempstead County.

Controlling low blood sugar

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I read with much interest your article on low blood sugar, hypoglycemia. I have functional hypoglycemia and my doctor found my sugar to drop as low as 25. It seems to me, and believe me I know, that the simplest thing is usually left out of write-ups. Eat breakfast early in the day. Never skip a meal. Eat on time. Eat small meals often. In other words, following a strict diet is an important part of the treatment.

Protein is very important, but I have found out that it is not half as important as being on time with meals. This will prevent a headache. If I am at home, I do fine, but if I am on a vacation or a guest in another person's home and they have irregular meal hours, then I am in trouble. I am fine and live a normal life today, thanks to God and a doctor who was determined to find out my trouble.

Dear Reader — Symptoms caused when the amount of sugar in the blood drops to too low a level can be prevented by constantly eating more food. The food is converted to blood sugar and raises its level which is why the frequent meals you mention are important. The long intervals between meals provide the opportunity for the blood sugar to fall too low. The longer the interval between meals, the more important it is to include a major portion of protein and fat in the meal. Fat and protein are digested more slowly and help maintain an adequate level of blood sugar.

I am sure most doctors would agree with your observation that small frequent meals are helpful, but because some individuals over-react to concentrated amounts of sugar in the diet, it is important to have these small frequent meals contain a significant amount of protein and bulk.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Forty years ago I had TB and spent 13 months in a sanitarium. I took pneumothorax treatments for about six years. At that time I was told not to fly in a plane as my lungs would collapse spontaneously. I am planning on flying to California soon. Is there any danger?

Dear Reader — No. You don't need to worry about it any more. The reason the doctors were concerned was because of your pneumothorax treatment. This procedure as you know injects air into the chest in the space between the lung and rib cage. This is done to cause the lung to collapse. This treatment was used in tuberculosis with the thought that it would rest the infected lung by collapsing it. Gradually the air would be absorbed and the lung would reexpand. Now, during the pneumothorax treatment with the air trapped in the space between the collapsed lung and the rib cage, if you went to altitude, the air would expand, because of the decreased barometric pressure at altitude. As the air would expand, it would create further pressure on the lung and cause it to collapse more and perhaps cause pressure against the good lung as well as the heart and blood vessel structure in the chest cage. This can be a very serious problem.

Opening lead—♠ Q

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The ultra modern young experts have developed a lot of new leads. Some may be good, all are complicated, and, with one exception, worth very little to their users.

Today's hand illustrates this one really good new lead. It is the lead of the queen from a suit headed by king-queen-10 when the contract is no-trump.

The lead can't really hurt because if partner does not hold the jack he treats the lead as if it were a normal lead from a queen-jack suit. It is only when he holds the jack that he does something special and plays the jack. He can't go wrong because he knows what his partner's lead has shown.

Today's hand shows this lead at its best. East doesn't know if his partner has led the queen from king-queen-10 or queen-jack, but he drops the three-spot to discourage his partner.

South false-cards with the seven. Without this convention West would wonder if East's three were played from jack-three-deuce. With this convention he knows that South holds the jack.

He considers continuing with the king in hope that South started with just jack-small in spades, but shifts to the 10 of hearts.

South wins in dummy and leads a club and it is up to East to hop up with the king and lead a spade to his partner. If he does, the defense will collect six tricks and leave North and South complaining to whatever gods are supposed to protect declarers.

The bidding has been:

Pass	1 ♠	Pass	1 ♠
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	2 N.T.

You, South, hold:

♠ A K 6 5 ♥ A K 6 5 ♦ 3 2 ♣ K Q 3

What do you do now?

A—Business is looking up. Bid three spades with every intention of bidding hearts next.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You do bid three spades and your partner bids three no-trump. What do you do now?
